

Friendship – Lucy Gilbertson

I value friendship because it means I can be a good friend to my friends and help them out when they need it. Also so then when my friends are upset I can help cheer them up. The friendship's I have made as a result of the Comenius project is amazing. I wouldn't have friends from all around the world if it wasn't for the Comenius project. Being on this trip made me realise that having friends around the world helps you also see their culture. It has also made me realise that I can communicate with them and stay in touch which will bring the friendship more closer.
